The Verdict of the People · adapted version

Seven lessons you can do alone, without an AESH: Route S (SEGPA), Route C (CAP), Route P (Bac pro), CFA pathway. Worked example before each exercise, self-check key after it.

The Verdict of the People · adapted version

US Elections, Representation and the Americas. Seven lessons you can do alone: SEGPA, CAP, CFA and Bac pro.

Road map

Seven lessons of 55 minutes, each timed for 52 minutes. Every lesson has the same steps, a stopping point at minute 44, an 8-minute emergency exit, a written record, a moment when you speak, and homework.

1. Lesson 1. A Painting of an Election 52 min

   I can describe a painting and say what I know.

2. Lesson 2. Congress and the President 52 min

   I can explain one limit on the president’s power.

3. Lesson 3. Who Is Represented? 52 min

   I can compare Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C.

4. Lesson 4. A Promise Is Not a Result 52 min

   I can recognise a promise and ask for evidence.

5. Lesson 5. Reading Election Information 52 min

   I can find a source, a date and an uncertainty.

6. Lesson 6. Why Other Countries Care 52 min

I can tell a fact from a possible consequence.

7. Lesson 7. My Short News Report 52 min

   I can give a short, accurate report.

Also: my flashcards and the teacher notes.

Start here

This version keeps the same themes as the Première sequence: an election painting, Congress, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C., campaign messages, election information, trade with neighbours and a short news report.

You can do every lesson alone: without an AESH, without a partner, and even if you missed the class. Every exercise has a worked example before it and a self-check key after it. No exercise needs an internet search.

What you need

- this page, on screen or printed;
- paper or a notebook;
- a pen, a keyboard or a speech-to-text tool;
- a timer, if you have one.

You do not need

- an AESH;
- a printer;
- an internet account;
- another student;
- a recording device.

Choose your route

You are in...	Start with	Level in this resource	Important
SEGPA (collège)	Route S	A1 towards A2, adjusted after a first check	A teaching route, not an official ceiling for SEGPA. Teaching is adapted to each student's needs and progress.

You are in...	Start with	Level in this resource	Important
CAP	Route C	A2	A2 is the examination target where a language unit is included.
CFA	Route C or Route P, according to your qualification	The level of your qualification	A CFA is a training setting, not a CEFR level. Follow the CFA pathway in each lesson.
Bac pro	Route P	Supported B1, towards B1+ in LVA	The examination target is B1+ in LVA and B1 in LVB.

Vocational programme: langues vivantes in the vocational pathway, arrêté of 3 April 2019, Bulletin officiel spécial n° 5 of 11 April 2019. The routes are not fixed: if Route S is easy, move on; a Bac pro student may use a shorter step for a while without being kept at a lower target.

Dyslexia support does not mean a lower language level. Access support (layout, short instructions, read-aloud, less copying) is separate from the level of English. A student can need a lot of reading support and still work towards B1 or B1+.

How to do an exercise

1. Read the short text.
2. Read the worked example.
3. Do the task.
4. Read the self-check key.
5. Correct one answer if necessary.
6. Say your corrected answer aloud.

If you do not understand a word

1. Look at the word box.
2. Read the whole sentence again.
3. Use the sentence starter.
4. If you are still blocked, look at the key.
5. Cover the key.
6. Try again.

Using the key to restart is allowed. Copying it without trying again does not help you practise.

Reading and listening

The short texts can be read aloud by your device (button “Listen”). Listen once, then listen again while following the words, and pause after each sentence. Every task can also be done by reading only.

Timing for every lesson

Minutes	What to do
0 to 4	Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections)
4 to 8	Read the goal and the word box
8 to 16	Read or listen to your route’s text
16 to 24	Exercise 1, then check it
24 to 26	Pause: look away from the text or move
26 to 34	Exercise 2, then check it
34 to 40	Exercise 3, then check it
40 to 44	Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame
44 to 48	Written record
48 to 50	Progress record
50 to 52	Read and write down the homework
52 to 55	Transition time. No new task.

Stopping point: stop the main exercises at minute 44. Keep the written record and the homework.

Emergency exit · 8 min, when only eight working minutes remain:

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

About the 2026 results

This version gives no election result, and you do not need one. If a teacher gives you a verified report, you can use the optional card in Lesson 5. If not, write: “No verified report has been supplied. I will not invent a result.” That is a valid answer.

Related sequence. The Capital Trap, adapted version works on US state capitals and big cities; it does not cover Congress or elections.

Lesson 1. A Painting of an Election

Goal: I can describe a painting and say what I know.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 1 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Make two flashcards: crowd and suggest. Say your written record twice.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

The painting is George Caleb Bingham's The Verdict of the People, painted in 1854 to 1855. The museum describes different reactions in the crowd and connects the painting with questions about who could take part. You do not need to open the website to complete the lesson.

Word box

Word	Meaning
painting	a picture made with paint
crowd	many people together result	what an election decides react	show a feeling or a response
suggest	give a possible meaning

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

George Caleb Bingham painted this picture.

The picture shows a crowd.

The people are waiting for election results.

Some people look happy.

Other people look unhappy.

The picture shows different reactions.

EXERCISE S1

Find information

> Worked example. Question: What does the picture show? Answer: A crowd.

Now you.

1. Who painted the picture?
2. What results are the people waiting for?

> Self-check
>
> 1. George Caleb Bingham.
> 2. Election results.

EXERCISE S2

Complete

> Worked example. “The picture shows a crowd.”

Now you.

Use: happy, unhappy.

1. Some people look _____.
2. Other people look _____.

> Self-check
>
> 1. happy.
> 2. unhappy.

EXERCISE S3

Write and speak

> Worked example. “This is a painting. It shows a crowd.”

Now you.

Complete: “This is a painting by _____. It shows _____.” Say your answer aloud.

> Self-check
>
> “This is a painting by George Caleb Bingham. It shows a crowd.”

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

Bingham painted a crowd waiting for election results.

People react in different ways.

Some look pleased.

Others look disappointed.

The painting can help us ask questions about democracy.

However, a painting does not tell us what every person thinks.

EXERCISE C1

True or false

> Worked example. “The people are waiting for a football score.” False. They are waiting for election results.

Now you.

1. Everyone reacts in the same way.
2. The painting shows an election event.
3. We know exactly what every person thinks.

> Self-check
>
> 1. False. The reactions differ.
> 2. True.
> 3. False.

EXERCISE C2

Fact or possible meaning?

> Worked example. “The picture contains a crowd.” This describes the picture.

Now you.

1. “Some figures look disappointed.”

2. “The picture may suggest that elections divide opinion.”

> Self-check
>
> 1. A description.
> 2. A possible interpretation.

EXERCISE C3

Write and speak

> Worked example. “The painting shows a crowd. Different reactions make the event look lively.”

Now you.

Write three sentences with: The painting shows… / Some people… / It may suggest…

> Self-check
>
> Possible answer: “The painting shows an election event. Some people look pleased. It may suggest that an election creates different reactions.” Other accurate answers are accepted.

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Bingham represents an election result as a public event.

The crowd does not react as one group.

Different expressions suggest excitement, disappointment or uncertainty.

The painting may celebrate participation.

It also raises a question about exclusion.

An image can help us interpret the past.

However, we need context before making claims about people’s rights or intentions.

EXERCISE P1

Identify the main point

> Worked example. “The painting is useful only because it is old.” This is not the main point of the text.

Now you.

Choose the best answer.

A. The painting gives complete information about every person.

B. The painting allows interpretation, but context is necessary.

C. Everyone agrees about the election.

> Self-check
>
> B.

EXERCISE P2

Qualify

> Worked example. “Every person is happy.” Improved: “Some people appear happy.”

Now you.

Improve:

1. “The painter definitely supports everything in the scene.”
2. “The image tells us exactly what everyone thinks.”

> Self-check
>
> Possible answers:
> 1. “The painter may be celebrating participation.”
> 2. “The image suggests different reactions, but it does not show every person’s thoughts.”

EXERCISE P3

Explain

> Worked example. “A painting is useful evidence, but it needs interpretation.”

Now you.

Write 50 to 70 words explaining that idea. Include however.

Self-check

Your answer should mention one feature of the painting, explain one possible meaning and name one limit.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Describe without guessing

Worked example. “The visitor looks at the painting.” Not: “The visitor hates the painting.”

Now you.
Write one description and one cautious interpretation of the election painting. Starter: “I can see _____. This may suggest _____.”

Self-check

The description must be supported by the text. The interpretation must be labelled as possible (may, might).

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “Bingham painted a crowd waiting for election results.”

C: “The painting shows different reactions to an election result.”

P: “The painting supports interpretation, but historical context is necessary.”

Speaking frame. “The painting shows _____. It may suggest _____.”

Emergency sentence. “The painting shows different reactions to an election.”

Homework

Make two flashcards: crowd and suggest. Say your written record twice.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 2. Congress and the President

Goal: I can explain one limit on the president's power.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 2 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Make cards for bill and approve. Review your Lesson 1 cards.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.

2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

The information below is based on USAGov and the US Constitution.

Word box

Word	Meaning
Congress	the group that makes US laws
chamber	one part of Congress
bill	a proposed law
approve	officially accept
veto	the president says no to a bill

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

The United States has a president.

It also has Congress.

Congress has two chambers.

They are the House and the Senate.

The president does not make every decision alone.

EXERCISE S1

Choose

> Worked example. “How many chambers does Congress have?” Answer: two.

Now you.

1. Congress has one / two chambers.

2. The chambers are the House and the Senate / the courts.

> Self-check
>
> 1. two.
>
> 2. the House and the Senate.

EXERCISE S2

Complete

> Worked example. “The United States has a _____.” Answer: president.

Now you.

Complete: “Congress has the _____ and the _____.”

> Self-check
>
> House; Senate.

EXERCISE S3

Say a fact

> Worked example. “The president does not decide everything alone.”

Now you.

Say two sentences: “Congress has _____.” “The president does not _____.”

> Self-check
>
> “Congress has two chambers.” “The president does not make every decision alone.”

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

Congress has the House and the Senate.

Both chambers generally need to approve the same bill.

The bill is then presented to the president.

The president may veto it.

The president therefore needs to work with Congress.

An election can change who has power in Congress.

EXERCISE C1

Order

> Worked example. First, a bill is proposed.

Now you.

Put these steps in order.

A. The bill is presented to the president.

B. Both chambers approve the same bill.

> Self-check
>
> B, then A.

EXERCISE C2

Complete

> Worked example. “A bill is a proposed _____.” Answer: law.

Now you.

Use: Congress, veto.

1. The president may _____ a bill.
2. The president needs to work with _____.

> Self-check
>
> 1. veto.
> 2. Congress.

EXERCISE C3

Explain

> Worked example. “The president cannot decide everything alone because Congress has powers too.”

Now you.

Write two or three sentences explaining this.

> Self-check
>
> Mention the two chambers and the approval of a bill. Do not say that the president alone makes every law.

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Midterm elections can change the balance of power in Congress.

They do not directly elect a new president.

Congress has two chambers.

Ordinary federal laws generally need both chambers to approve the same bill.

The bill is then presented to the president.

The president may veto it.

A president may therefore need to negotiate, even after winning a presidential election.

EXERCISE P1

Correct

> Worked example. “Midterms directly elect a new president.” Correction: “Midterms do not directly elect a new president.”

Now you.

Correct: “The president’s proposals automatically become law.”

> Self-check
>
> “The president’s proposals do not automatically become law. Congress has a role in approving legislation.”

EXERCISE P2

Passive voice

> Worked example. “Both chambers approve the bill.” becomes “The bill is approved by both chambers.”

Now you.

Transform: “Both chambers must approve the bill.”

> Self-check
>
> “The bill must be approved by both chambers.”

EXERCISE P3

Explain to someone

> Worked example. Opening: “Winning the presidency does not remove the powers of Congress.”

Now you.

Write 60 to 80 words for a student who thinks the president decides everything.

> Self-check
>
> Include the House and the Senate, the approval of a bill and one reason why negotiation may be necessary.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Explain responsibilities

> Worked example. “At work, different people can have different responsibilities.”

Now you.

Explain why “the president decides everything” is misleading. Starter: “Congress also has _____.”

> Self-check
>
> Mention the powers of Congress. Do not claim that a workplace and the US government work in the same way.

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “Congress has the House and the Senate.”

C: “The president needs to work with Congress.”

P: “Midterms can change the power of Congress without directly electing a new president.”

Speaking frame. “The president cannot decide everything alone because _____.”

Emergency sentence. “Congress has powers too.”

Homework

Make cards for bill and approve. Review your Lesson 1 cards.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 3. Who Is Represented?

Goal: I can compare Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 3 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Make one comparison card. Front: "One similarity?" Back: your accurate answer. Then make one difference card.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

The comparison is based on the official page of Puerto Rico's Resident Commissioner and on the Twenty-third Amendment of the Constitution.

Word box

Word	Meaning
territory	an area with a special legal link to a country representative	someone who speaks or acts for a group
senator	a member of the Senate presidential elector	a person who casts an electoral vote for president
whereas	a word used to contrast two facts

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

Puerto Rico is a US territory.

It has a representative in the House.

It has no senators.

Washington, D.C. has a representative too.

It also has no senators.

The two places are not states.

EXERCISE S1

True or false

> Worked example. “Puerto Rico is a US territory.” True.

Now you.

1. Puerto Rico has senators.
2. Washington, D.C. is a state.

> Self-check
>
> 1. False.
> 2. False.

EXERCISE S2

Complete

> Worked example. “Puerto Rico has a representative.”

Now you.

Complete: “Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. have no _____.”

> Self-check
>
> senators.

EXERCISE S3

Compare

> Worked example. “Both places have representatives.”

Now you.

Write one similarity. Say your answer aloud.

> Self-check
>
> Possible answers: Both places have representatives. Neither place has senators. Neither place is a state.

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

Puerto Rico elects a Resident Commissioner.

This representative can introduce bills and vote in committees.

However, the representative cannot vote on the final approval of a bill in the full House.

Washington, D.C. has a House delegate.

Neither place has senators.

Washington, D.C. has presidential electors.

Puerto Rico does not.

EXERCISE C1

Match

> Worked example. “Resident Commissioner” goes with Puerto Rico.

Now you.

Match with Puerto Rico or Washington, D.C.:

1. House delegate.
2. No presidential electors.

> Self-check
>
> 1. Washington, D.C.
> 2. Puerto Rico.

EXERCISE C2

Complete the contrast

> Worked example. “Both places have House representation.”

Now you.

Complete: “Washington, D.C. has presidential electors, whereas _____.”

> Self-check
>
> “Washington, D.C. has presidential electors, whereas Puerto Rico does not.”

EXERCISE C3

Correct

> Worked example. “Puerto Rico has no representation.” Correction: “Puerto Rico has a Resident Commissioner.”

Now you.

Correct: “The Resident Commissioner has no powers.”

> Self-check
>
> “The Resident Commissioner has powers, including introducing bills and voting in committees.”

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. have federal representation, but not the same arrangements as states.

Neither has senators.

Puerto Rico’s Resident Commissioner has responsibilities in the House, including committee work.

However, the Resident Commissioner cannot vote on the final approval of a bill in the full House.

Washington, D.C. has presidential electors.

Puerto Rico does not.

These examples show why “representation” needs a precise explanation.

EXERCISE P1

Explain the difference

> Worked example. “No representative” and “a representative with limited voting powers” do not mean the same thing.

Now you.

Explain why “Puerto Rico has no representation” is misleading.

> Self-check
>
> It ignores the Resident Commissioner and the powers of that office.

EXERCISE P2

Concession

> Worked example. “Although the office has powers, it also has limits.”

Now you.

Complete: “Although Puerto Rico has a Resident Commissioner, _____.”

> Self-check
>
> Possible answer: “Although Puerto Rico has a Resident Commissioner, the office cannot vote on the final approval of a bill in the full House.”

EXERCISE P3

Write a comparison

> Worked example. Opening: “The two places share some features, but their arrangements are not identical.”

Now you.

Write 60 to 80 words. Include whereas and one similarity.

> Self-check
>
> Mention: no senators, House representation, and the difference in presidential electors.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Use precise information

> Worked example. “A person can have a role with specific limits.”

Now you.

Correct: “Puerto Rico has nobody in Congress.”

> Self-check
>
> “Puerto Rico has a Resident Commissioner with specific powers and limits.”

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C. have no senators.”

C: “They have representation, but their arrangements differ.”

P: “Representation is not simply present or absent. Its powers and limits matter.”

Speaking frame. “Both places _____, whereas _____.”

Emergency sentence. “Puerto Rico has representation, but the office has limits.”

Homework

Make one comparison card. Front: “One similarity?” Back: your accurate answer. Then make one difference card.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 4. A Promise Is Not a Result

Goal: I can recognise a promise and ask for evidence.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 4 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Make two cards: promise and evidence. Write one question you can use to check a public claim.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

All the messages in this lesson are invented classroom examples. They are not quotations from real candidates.

Word box

Word	Meaning
promise	something a person says they will do claim	something presented as true evidence	information that supports or challenges a claim
check	examine to see if it is true
report	explain what someone said or what happened

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

A fictional candidate says: “I will improve the bus service.”

This is a promise.

The improvement has not happened in this example.

We can ask: “How will you do it?”

EXERCISE S1

Choose

> Worked example. “I will improve the bus service” is a promise.

Now you.

“It has already happened.”

A. Yes.

B. The text does not say that.

> Self-check
>
> B.

EXERCISE S2

Complete

> Worked example. “A promise is not a finished result.”

Now you.

Complete: “We can ask: How will you _____?”

> Self-check
>
> do it.

EXERCISE S3

Ask a question

> Worked example. “How much will it cost?”

Now you.

Write or say one question about the promise.

> Self-check
>
> Accept: How will you do it? How much will it cost? When will it happen?

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

A fictional candidate promises a better bus service.

The message sounds positive.

However, it gives no price and no timetable.

A careful reader asks for more information.

A promise may be useful, but it is not evidence that the plan will succeed.

EXERCISE C1

Find missing information

> Worked example. Missing information: the price.

Now you.

Name one other missing detail.

> Self-check
>
> The timetable.

EXERCISE C2

Choose

> Worked example. “Positive language can persuade.” True.

Now you.

Choose the accurate statement.

A. A positive message proves success.

B. A positive message can still need evidence.

> Self-check
>
> B.

EXERCISE C3

Write a reply

> Worked example. “The proposal sounds useful. What will it cost?”

Now you.

Write two sentences: “The proposal sounds _____. How _____?”

Self-check

Your answer should recognise the proposal and ask a relevant question. It must not claim that the plan has already succeeded.

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

A fictional campaign message promises a better evening bus service.

It gives no budget or timetable.

The proposal may be useful.

However, the message does not show that the plan is affordable or effective.

A reporter should separate the candidate’s promise from an achieved result.

Attribution helps the audience understand who made the claim.

EXERCISE P1

Report

Worked example. “I support the proposal.” becomes “The candidate said that they supported the proposal.”

Now you.

Report: “We will publish the cost.” Begin: “The campaigners said…”

Self-check

“The campaigners said that they would publish the cost.”

EXERCISE P2

Correct

Worked example. “The candidate promised success” is not the same as “The plan succeeded.”

Now you.

Correct: “The candidate promised a better service, so the service has improved.”

> Self-check
>
> “The candidate promised a better service, but the promise does not show that an improvement has happened.”

EXERCISE P3

Write a short fact-check

> Worked example. Structure: “The message claims… It does not provide… We need…”

Now you.

Write 60 to 80 words.

> Self-check
>
> Include the promise, one missing detail and one relevant question. Do not invent costs or outcomes.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Check a service promise

> Worked example. Invented workplace message: “Our new delivery service will solve every problem.” Question: “What delivery time do you promise?”

Now you.

Write two questions before recommending the service.

> Self-check
>
> Good questions are about price, timing, coverage, evidence or conditions. No invented company information is needed.

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “A promise is not a result.”

C: “A positive message may still need evidence.”

P: “A reporter must separate promises, evidence and achieved results.”

Speaking frame. “The message promises _____. I would ask _____.”

Emergency sentence. “We need evidence before claiming success.”

Homework

Make two cards: promise and evidence. Write one question you can use to check a public claim.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 5. Reading Election Information

Goal: I can find a source, a date and an uncertainty.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 5 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Make a card with three checks: source, date, status. Review it without looking.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

No election result is given or invented in this lesson.

Word box

Word	Meaning
publisher	the organisation responsible for a report
update	newer information added to a page called	a news organisation has said who won certified	officially confirmed by law
uncertain	not known for sure

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

An election report needs a source.

It also needs a date.

A screenshot may miss this information.

If information is missing, do not guess.

Write: “I do not know yet.”

EXERCISE S1

Find the essentials

> Worked example. A report needs a source.

Now you.

What else does it need?

> Self-check
>
> A date.

EXERCISE S2

Choose

> Worked example. “Missing information means I should check.”

Now you.

Choose:

A. Guess a result.

B. Say what is missing.

> Self-check
>
> B.

EXERCISE S3

Write

> Worked example. “The date is missing.”

Now you.

Complete: “I cannot check the report because _____.”

> Self-check
>
> Possible answers: the source is missing; the date is missing; the page is incomplete.

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

Before using an election report, find its publisher and its update time.

Check what the page reports.

A news organisation may call a race.

This is not the same as legal certification.

If the page does not explain the status of the result, keep that uncertainty in your report.

EXERCISE C1

List

> Worked example. “Publisher” is one detail to record.

Now you.
Write two other details.

> Self-check
>
> The update time and the status of the result.

EXERCISE C2

True or false

> Worked example. “A source and a date help us check a report.” True.

Now you.
“A media call is automatically legal certification.”

> Self-check
>
> False.

EXERCISE C3

Complete a safe report

> Worked example. “The publisher is named, but the update time is missing.”

Now you.
Complete: “The page reports _____. However, I cannot establish _____.” You may use: a media call; legal certification.

> Self-check
>
> “The page reports a media call. However, I cannot establish legal certification.”

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Two election pages can disagree because they were updated at different times.

They may also count different categories.

For example, one page may list races called, while another describes the expected make-up of a chamber.

A newer figure is not automatically comparable with an older one.

Before reporting a difference, check the category, the time and the status.

If the evidence is incomplete, explain the limit.

EXERCISE P1

Find causes

> Worked example. Different update times may explain a difference.

Now you.
Name another possible cause.

> Self-check
>
> The pages may count different categories or use different result statuses.

EXERCISE P2

Correct the method

> Worked example. “Use the newest number” is incomplete advice.

Now you.
Improve: “The newer page must be right.”

> Self-check
>
> “The newer page may contain more recent information, but we must check whether it measures the same category.”

EXERCISE P3

Write a method note

> Worked example. Opening: “Before comparing two figures, I would…”

Now you.
Write 60 to 80 words explaining three checks.

> Self-check
>
> Include category, time and status. Explain why guessing is not acceptable.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Check a forwarded message

> Worked example. “This screenshot has no date.”

Now you.
A colleague forwards an election screenshot. Write a polite reply asking for two missing details. Starter: “Could you send me _____ and _____?”

> Self-check
>
> “Could you send me the original source and the update date?”

OPTIONAL REAL-RESULTS CARD

This card is not needed to complete the lesson. If a teacher gives you a verified report, complete: Publisher · Exact page · Updated · Finding · Status · What remains uncertain.

If no report has been given, write: “No verified report has been supplied. I will not invent a result.” That is a valid answer.

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “Check the source and the date.”

C: “A media call and legal certification are different.”

P: “Compare the category, time and status before comparing figures.”

Speaking frame. “I can establish _____. I cannot yet establish _____.”

Emergency sentence. “I will not guess a missing result.”

Homework

Make a card with three checks: source, date, status. Review it without looking.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 6. Why Other Countries Care

Goal: I can tell a fact from a possible consequence.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 6 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Prepare your final report. Choose one fact from three different lessons. Write the lesson number beside each fact.

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

The USMCA trade agreement entered into force on 1 July 2020. The US Constitution gives Congress powers over trade with other countries. These facts do not make every predicted trade consequence certain.

Word box

Word	Meaning
trade	buying and selling
agreement	an arrangement accepted by everyone involved trading partner	a country that trades with another affect	influence or change
may	shows a possibility

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

The United States trades with Canada and Mexico.

The three countries have a trade agreement.

Its name is USMCA.

Political decisions can affect trade.

Not every change happens immediately.

EXERCISE S1

Name

> Worked example. “One country is the United States.”

Now you.

Name the other two.

> Self-check
>
> Canada and Mexico.

EXERCISE S2

Choose

> Worked example. “Trade means buying and selling.”

Now you.

Choose:

A. Every political change immediately changes all trade.

B. A political change can affect trade.

> Self-check
>
> B.

EXERCISE S3

Complete

> Worked example. “Canada is a trading partner.”

Now you.

Complete: “Political decisions can affect _____.”

> Self-check
>
> trade.

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

The United States, Canada and Mexico trade with each other.

USMCA is their trade agreement.

Congress has powers over trade.

A change in Congress may affect political debates.

However, an election does not immediately change every trade rule.

We must separate what happened from what may happen next.

EXERCISE C1

Fact or possibility?

> Worked example. “USMCA is a trade agreement.” Fact.

Now you.

Classify: “A change in Congress may affect a trade debate.”

> Self-check
>
> A possibility.

EXERCISE C2

Complete

> Worked example. “The word may shows possibility.”

Now you.

Complete: “An election _____ affect trade debates.”

> Self-check
>
> may.

EXERCISE C3

Explain

> Worked example. “The election has happened. Its future effects may still be uncertain.”

Now you.

Write two sentences with: One fact is… / One possible effect is…

> Self-check
>
> The first sentence uses information from the text. The second uses may or might and does not claim certainty.

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Neighbouring countries may follow US congressional elections because Congress has powers over trade.

However, a result does not automatically decide future policy.

Existing laws, the president and decisions by other countries also matter.

A useful report explains how a political change could lead to a decision.

It then says what is still uncertain.

This is more careful than predicting an outcome without explaining the connection.

EXERCISE P1

Find limits

> Worked example. “Congress is not the only actor.”

Now you.
Name two other factors from the text.

> Self-check
>
> Existing laws, the president, decisions by other countries.

EXERCISE P2

Conditional

> Worked example. “If a proposal changes, the debate may change.”

Now you.
Complete with changes and may: “If Congress _____ the law, trade conditions _____ change.”

> Self-check
>
> “If Congress changes the law, trade conditions may change.”

EXERCISE P3

Write for a visitor

> Worked example. Opening: “US elections can matter beyond US borders, but…”

Now you.
Write 60 to 80 words. Include a fact, a possible consequence and a limit.

> Self-check
>
> Your answer must separate established information from prediction. No invented 2026 outcome is needed.

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Separate fact and prediction

> Worked example. “Canada and the United States trade with each other.” That is a fact.

Now you.
Write a careful sentence about a possible business consequence of political change. Starter: “A change may affect _____, but we need _____.”

> Self-check
>
> Accept a clearly labelled possibility. Do not accept a claim that a specific price or delivery outcome is certain.

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “The United States trades with Canada and Mexico.”

C: “An election may affect trade, but its effects are not automatic.”

P: “Explain the possible connection between a political change and a consequence.”

Speaking frame. “One fact is _____. One possible consequence is _____.”

Emergency sentence. “A possible consequence is not a certain result.”

Homework

Prepare your final report. Choose one fact from three different lessons. Write the lesson number beside each fact.

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

Lesson 7. My Short News Report

Goal: I can give a short, accurate report.

Road map

Lesson of 55 minutes, timed for 52 minutes. Lesson 7 of 7. Minutes 52 to 55: no new task. Working at home and need longer? Split the lesson into two blocks: this is a classroom structure, not a speed test.

1. Say one sentence from the previous lesson (Lesson 1: what you already know about elections) 4 min (minutes 0 to 4)
2. Read the goal and the word box 4 min (minutes 4 to 8)
3. Read or listen to your route's text 8 min (minutes 8 to 16)
4. Exercise 1, then check it 8 min (minutes 16 to 24)
5. Pause: look away from the text or move 2 min (minutes 24 to 26)
6. Exercise 2, then check it 8 min (minutes 26 to 34)
7. Exercise 3, then check it 6 min (minutes 34 to 40)
8. Say your final answer aloud with the speaking frame 4 min (minutes 40 to 44)
9. Written record 4 min (minutes 44 to 48)
10. Progress record 2 min (minutes 48 to 50)
11. Read and write down the homework 2 min (minutes 50 to 52)

- Written record. One sentence for your route (see below), copied or typed.
- Participation. Say at least one answer aloud. In class, use a quiet voice; at home, say it to yourself. You do not need to record yourself.
- Homework for next lesson. Revise one sentence. Write: "Before: _____." "After: _____." "I changed it because _____."

Stopping point. Minute 44: stop the main exercises. Keep the written record and the homework, even if an exercise is unfinished.

Emergency exit · 8 min. If only eight working minutes remain, this replaces the unfinished plan; it is not added to it.

1. Minutes 0 to 2: say the emergency sentence of the lesson aloud.
2. Minutes 2 to 5: complete the short written record.
3. Minutes 5 to 7: write down the homework.
4. Minute 7 to 8: check one answer with the key. Do not rush through all the unfinished exercises.

You can complete this alone. You do not need a group debate. You do not need to publish or record your voice.

Word box

Word	Meaning
report	a short explanation of facts accurate	correct
fact	something we can check
check	examine to see if it is true
caution	a warning: be careful

Choose your route: Route S · SEGPA · Route C · CAP · Route P · Bac pro · CFA. Do only your route.

Route S · SEGPA

SHORT TEXT

Model report:

“This sequence is about US elections.

Bingham painted an election crowd.

Congress has the House and the Senate.

A promise is not a result.

I check the source and the date.”

EXERCISE S1

Choose facts

> Worked example. “Congress has two chambers.” This is an accurate fact.

Now you.

Choose two more facts from your written records.

> Self-check
>
> Check each sentence against the lesson record. Do not use a fact you cannot find.

EXERCISE S2

Build your report

> Worked example. Opening: “My report is about US elections.”

Now you.

Complete: “Bingham painted _____.” “Congress has _____.” “I check _____.”

> Self-check
>
> Possible answers: an election crowd; the House and the Senate; the source and the date.

EXERCISE S3

Speak

> Worked example. Read one sentence. Pause. Read the next sentence.

Now you.

Say your report aloud.

> Self-check
>
> Did you say at least three accurate sentences? If yes, the task is complete.

Route C · CAP

SHORT TEXT

Model report:

“Bingham’s painting shows different reactions to election results.

Today, US institutions divide power.

Congress has the House and the Senate.

The president does not decide everything alone.

A news report needs a clear source and date.

We should not confuse a promise with an achieved result.”

EXERCISE C1

Select

> Worked example. Choose “Congress has two chambers” rather than “The president decides everything”.

Now you.

Choose three accurate facts from three lessons.

> Self-check
>
> Underline the matching sentence in each lesson.

EXERCISE C2

Organise

> Worked example. Order: topic, fact, explanation, caution.

Now you.

Write a 50 to 70-word report. Use: My report explains... / One important fact is... / This matters because... / We should check...

> Self-check
>
> Your report needs three accurate facts, one explanation and one checking rule. The word range is guidance, not a speed or spelling test.

EXERCISE C3

Speak and answer

> Worked example. Question: “Why should we check the date?” Model answer: “Because a report may be old.”

Now you.

Say your report aloud. Then answer: “Why should we not guess a missing result?”

> Self-check
>
> “Because we do not have evidence.” Other answers with the same meaning are accepted.

Route P · Bac pro

SHORT TEXT

Model report:

“Bingham’s painting introduces a question about participation.

Modern US institutions also need careful explanation.

Congress can limit presidential action, while Puerto Rico shows that representation takes different forms.

Election information needs a source, a date and a status.

Possible consequences for trade should be labelled as predictions rather than established results.”

EXERCISE P1

Plan

> Worked example. Fact: Congress has two chambers. Meaning: the president does not act alone in lawmaking.

Now you.

Choose three facts and explain why one of them matters.

> Self-check
>
> Each fact must match a lesson text. Its importance must follow logically.

EXERCISE P2

Write

> Worked example. Structure: introduction, facts, implication, limit.

Now you.

Write 100 to 130 words with one cultural reference, two institutional or source-checking facts, one explanation and one qualification.

> Self-check
>
> Do not include an election winner or total unless a verified source has been supplied.

EXERCISE P3

Speak and clarify

> Worked example. Question: “Does that prove every future outcome?” Answer: “No. It identifies a possible consequence, not a certainty.”

Now you.

Give a 60 to 90-second report. Then answer: “What is one thing your evidence does not establish?”

> Self-check
>
> A good answer names a real limit, for example: “The text does not establish a future trade outcome.”

CFA pathway

CAP apprentice: use Route C. Bac pro apprentice: use Route P. Do Exercises 1 and 2 of your route, then do this task instead of Exercise 3. Keep the same written record and homework.

CFA TASK

Give a short briefing

> Worked example. Opening: “Here is what we can establish.”

Now you.

Give a 45-second briefing (CAP) or a 60 to 90-second briefing (Bac pro). Include one established fact, one explanation, one uncertainty and one checking question.

> Self-check
>
> Ask yourself: “Did I clearly separate what I know from what I need to check?”

WRITTEN RECORD

S: “One accurate fact I used was _____.”

C: “One checking rule I used was _____.”

P: “My next target is _____.”

Speaking frame. Use your model report.

Emergency sentence. “My report uses facts I can check.”

Homework

Revise one sentence. Write: “Before: _____.” “After: _____.” “I changed it because _____.”

My progress record

- I read or listened to the text.
- I checked my answers.
- I said at least one answer aloud.
- I kept my written record.
- I know the homework.

My flashcards

Make two cards after each lesson.

The method

Step 1. Choose. Choose a word or a difference you need. Do not choose only easy words.

Step 2. Front: a question. Example: “What is a bill?”

Step 3. Back: a short answer. Example: “A proposed law.”

Step 4. Add your sentence. Example: “Congress considers a bill.”

Step 5. Test. Look at the front. Say the answer. Turn the card. Check. Try again later.

Step 6. Review. The next day, three days later, one week later. This is a suggestion, not a compulsory schedule.

Model cards

Route	Front	Back	My sentence
S	What does crowd mean?	Many people together.	The painting shows a crowd.
C	Is a promise an achieved result?	No.	The candidate made a promise, but the result has not been established.
P	What should I compare before comparing two election figures?	Category, time and status.	The figures may not describe the same thing.

Blank template

Front	Back
Question:	Answer:
	My sentence:
	Lesson:
	Next review:

Self-check

A useful card has one clear question, a short accurate answer and an example you understand.

If reading the card is difficult, shorten it. You may also say the answer rather than write it when you review.

© 2026 Madame Carole Paoli Pompougnac · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0 · https://itineraires-destinations.fr/the-verdict-of-the-people/