Corrigé · Terminale bac pro (LVA : B1+) · Première générale et technologique (B1 possible)

Listening: Australian voices

Réservé à l'enseignant. Large print.

For the teacher only

Teacher's answer key

Corrigé. Réservé à l'enseignant. Large print.

Accept any clear answer that gives the idea. The scripts are for the teacher, not for the class before the listening. Official page: https://itineraires-destinations.fr/destination-australia/

Listening 1. Sam at a café in Melbourne

Script

G'day, I'm Sam. I run the morning shift at a café in Melbourne. If you apply, I'll ask about your experience, your Working Holiday visa, and your availability. Casual work includes casual loading, instead of paid leave. Ask which award applies, what the weekend rates are, and whether this role needs a Victorian RSA.

B. While you watch

1. False. Sam works in Melbourne, not in Sydney.
2. True. She runs the morning shift.
3. B. your experience, visa and availability
4. loading
5. True. Casual loading is included instead of paid leave.
6. A, C and D. Which award applies? What are the weekend rates? Does this role need a Victorian RSA?

C. After you watch (suggested answers)

1. Casual loading is extra pay for casual work, instead of paid leave.

© 2026 Madame Carole Paoli Pompougnac · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0

2. I should ask which award applies. Also accept: weekend rates, or whether the role needs a Victorian RSA.

Listening 2. Malik at a hostel in Sydney

Script

Hi, how's it going? I'm Malik, and I work on reception at a hostel near Central Station. Book one or two weeks first, then look for a longer place. In your first days, do the Big Four: a local SIM or eSIM, a bank account, your TFN on the official ATO page, and private insurance. If you're unsure at the airport, ask an officer.

B. While you watch

1. False. He works at a hostel near Central Station, not at a hotel near the airport.

2. True. He says to book one or two weeks first, then look for a longer place.

3. B. Central Station

4. bank; insurance

5. False. You get your TFN on the official ATO page, not from any shop in the street.

6. B. ask an officer

C. After you watch (suggested answers)

1. The Big Four are a local SIM or eSIM, a bank account, your TFN on the official ATO page, and private insurance.

2. If I am unsure, I ask an officer.

© 2026 Madame Carole Paoli Pompougnac · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0

Listening 3. Jordan in a packing shed near Mildura

Script

Hello, I'm Jordan. I supervise packing here near Mildura. If you want this work to count as specified work, check first. Not every farm job, location or day automatically qualifies for a second visa. The usual rule is three months, normally at least 88 calendar days of eligible full-time-equivalent work. Keep your payslips, and check the industry, the postcode and the official counting rules before you accept a job.

B. While you watch

1. True. Jordan works near Mildura.

2. False. Not every farm job, location or day automatically qualifies for a second visa.

3. A. packing

4. 88

5. True. You should keep your payslips.

6. A, C and D. the industry; the postcode; the official counting rules

C. After you watch (suggested answers)

1. No, not every farm job counts as specified work. You must check first.

2. The usual rule is three months, normally at least 88 calendar days of eligible full-time-equivalent work.

© 2026 Madame Carole Paoli Pompougnac · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0

Listening 4. Elena at a patrolled beach in Sydney

Script

G'day, I'm Elena. Put on your sunnies and some sunscreen, and swim between the red and yellow flags. Follow the lifeguards, and check the local warnings, because conditions change. On Saturday arvo, some of my mates are organising a barbie in the park. You're welcome to come, and to bring something to share. How's it going so far?

B. While you watch

1. False. You should swim between the red and yellow flags, not anywhere on the beach.

2. sunnies

3. B. between the red and yellow flags

4. False. Conditions change, so you must check the local warnings.

5. arvo; mates; barbie

6. True. You are welcome to come, and to bring something to share.

C. After you watch (suggested answers)

1. You should swim between the red and yellow flags.

2. Barbie means a barbecue, and arvo means afternoon.

Note for the teacher: the speaker's name is Elena. These short videos are for classroom listening. They are not official advice on visas, tax or insurance. Always check the official Australian government pages.

© 2026 Madame Carole Paoli Pompougnac · CC BY-NC-SA 4.0